

LIFELINE PRODUCE

VICTOR, MT

Farmers Steve and Luci have been raising a wide variety of organic, biodynamic produce for more than four decades. Known throughout the greater Missoula community as Western Montana's original organic farmers, they've passed on what they know to dozens of apprentices over the years. They also helped found the Montana Sustainable Grower's Union to underscore the importance of eating locally grown food and promote farmer cooperation. Members of the union agree to utilize organic growing practices and market to local customers under the Homegrown Montana label.
